

Professional editing of introductory works

The American service provides editorial services to entrants to US colleges and universities. The company works with various types of documents, including essays, statements, resumes, etc. More than 20 years of successful activity make the service a reliable assistant to entrants.

Features and benefits of the essay writing company

The works that entrants submit to the American admissions committees of the university must be of high quality. This applies to the theme and form, structure, style, grammar and punctuation. It is known that in the United States essays are of great value during admission, so this part of the application must be made perfect. American and foreign applicants can use the services of not just editors, but former students or full professors of American universities. These are specialists with extensive experience (on average 15 years), who know all the intricacies of various works at the university.

The website states that his team does not write works for clients, but only improves them and provides useful advice. Therefore, according to the needs of the customer, there are several options for services. You can choose them yourself or with the help of managers who answer in online chats, you can call them or write to email. The service constantly supports customers, promptly advises and provides services in accordance with the stated deadlines

Another feature and advantage of the company it provides free access to useful materials in the form of blogs, podcasts, textbooks. This information will help to determine the topic or structure of the essay, to learn about the main mistakes from real examples. They regularly publish educational news useful for entrants and students.

Service packages, terms of work

Each of the company's service packages includes editing and comments to the text. Thus, the customer receives not only the corrected text, but also an explanation of what mistakes he made. This will help avoid them in the future. The entrant must decide how much work he needs: just proofreading with bringing the text to perfection, or more careful editing with possible re-reading? According to these needs, service packages have been created:

Proofreading. Correction involves "polishing" the text, getting rid of its errors and accompanied by comments. Suitable if the entrant is confident in his work, but wants to get a professional examination.

Standard. The standard is often chosen because it involves careful reading, consultation with the editor and a second reading of the improved work (at the request of the client).

All In One. All in one is suitable if the applicant submits documents to several universities with different requirements. In this case, he will receive a comprehensive session of editing three or more works, will be able to communicate with the editor and order a second reading of the essay.

Premier. The prime minister will be the lifeline if the client has not yet started writing the work and needs active help. In this case, there will be two telephone conversations with the editor, a brainstorming session on the topic, structure and style of the work. The customer will write and submit the text for review, the specialist will process it and provide comments with advice.

The first two types of services are provided quickly, the customer receives his order in 48 hours after sending the text. If it is urgent, you can reduce the time to 24 hours. "All in one" requires careful work on several texts, it takes up to 7 days. The latest package of services ("Premier") is consulting and editing, 14 days to complete.

Looking for the best custom writing service?

EssayHave works to maximize entrants' chances of admission through works. This is a professional help with editing and consulting, attention to detail.